PEONY PRICE LIST FOR 1936

GROUP 1

In this group which follows we have placed about sixty outstanding flowers, all of which are suitable for average garden conditions. By this, we mean that they have sufficiently strong stems to stand up under almost any circumstances, and that they will be satisfactory to you for growing in your garden for garden use, as distinguished from cut-flower or exhibition use. Here you will find a representative lot of all of the three colors of peonies and some in each season of bloom.

We recommend this group to our friends and assure them that they may make a selection from it without fear of getting flowers which will not meet garden requirements. You can rely on each and every one of these plants to be good in your particular garden.

The group is further divided into three lots, the first lot selling at $1.00 per division, the second at $1.50, the third at $2.00, and the fourth at $2.50. In this way we feel selections can be made quickly and easily and the purchaser may make his selection from the price class he desires with the least effort, but with assurance that he is getting the type of flower that he wants.

In this section we have grouped most of the new and scarce peonies together with a few older ones, all of them highly rated varieties. This group varies in

In our 1936 price list we are continuing the practice we started several years ago of dividing peonies into different groups instead of listing them alphabetically. This listing met with the approval of most of our customers. The flowers are listed in this way in the belief that it will help many to get just the kinds of flowers they want for their gardens. Some varieties are best suited for garden display, others are choice exhibition flowers and some are good for general use. There is one division of new and rare varieties. A complete explanation precedes each group.

We have not given lengthy descriptions of the varieties as most of them, with the exception of the newest, can be found in the Manual of the American Peony Society, a book which should be in the library of every peony lover. Our Gate House Store can supply it at the publisher's price of $3.15 postpaid, or we shall be glad at any time to give detailed descriptions of any of these peonies if you write requesting the information.

The prices quoted in this list are for strong, healthy five-eye Anglaise Gardens divisions with generous, well-balanced root systems, cut from three-year-old plants. We can also supply one-year-old plants at the same price if you prefer this size. Prices on large plants for immediate effect will be quoted upon request.

The arrangement in this list is as follows: First, the rating as given by the American Peony Society. Second, the name of the variety. Next comes the color, then the season of bloom, early, mid-season or late.

price, and includes many which are very scarce and consequently still high in price. Some of these varieties are so new that they have not been rated by the American Peony Society. While there are many fine flowers in this group there are also some which have not been grown in this country a sufficient length of time to determine their real merits. Of course, many of these flowers will in time be included in our Group 1 if stock becomes plentiful, and their price becomes lower.

GROUP 3

In this group are included many very beautiful flowers, but which because of certain characteristics are not suitable for general landscape use. We refer particularly to such flowers as Tourangelle and Solange which are very beautiful when used as cut flowers, but whose stems are not strong enough to hold up the heavy blooms in the garden, or whose colors are so delicate that they do not withstand strong sun.

GROUP 4

In this group we have included a number of the older flowers. All of these are nice flowers, but they have been on the market for many years and the stock is large and consequently the price of the plants in this group is lower than those in either one of the others. The flowers in this group are not of as fine quality and very few of them are as highly rated as those in Groups 1 and 2, so we do not advise that you depend upon this group exclusively if you want a fine exhibition garden effect. A few of them should be used to fill in if you find you need some extra varieties, or because of their low price they can be purchased in considerable quantity to use as cut flowers if you need something of this character.
